Now It's Allendale's

Allendale's Crestwood Lake, a well-known swimming spot, is now borough property. The closing took place this week between Mayor Albert J. Merz and representatives of S. T. Van Houten and Sons, the former owners. The borough is paying $1 million for 70 acres, including the lake. It will be used for recreation and new municipal buildings. View is toward the southeast. Erie-Lackawanna tracks are on left, borough park ballfield in right background.
