

Scenes In Community Shocked By Robbery

Photos courtesy Paterson Eve, New

William B. Mehler, first assistant prosecutor, examines the vault at the First National Bank of Allendale where most of the $10,511.77 was obtained last Thursday. Teller Franklyn W. Trinkner (in inset), who was in a "tight spot" as bandits demanded vault key which he did not possess.

(Kownacki Photo)

Depositors or stockholders of the First National Bank of Allendale suffered no loss Thursday with the robbing of $10,511.77 by armed bandits. The bank is insured and on Friday morning two agents for the indemnity company visited the building and verified Cashier Edward Hamilton's (right) record of the loss. On Saturday, at 10 a. m., Daniel V. Crosta, (left), claims manager of the New Jersey office of the Glen Falls Indemnity Company and William G. Z. Critchley (center) for the Allendale Real Estate and Insurance Agency, which holds the policy, presented Mr. Hamilton with a check for the full $10,511.77.