Parents Enjoy Evening At PTA 'Back to School'

One hundred sixty four parents visited the classrooms on Back-to-School night, Oct. 21. Robert Thomas, President of the PTA presided at the short business meeting preceding the class session.

During the meeting William Smith who is in charge of social dancing voiced a plea for more boys to join the Friday night group of dancers. The school band sponsored by the PTA is well started with 24 students now taking lessons on various instruments. Plans are being made to hold a square dance on Dec. 6.

The PTA is also making plans to introduce a school savings project by selling savings stamps to the children at regular specified intervals.

Mrs. Amos' 3rd grade won the attendance award for the Sept. meeting.

Mrs. Robert Andrews has been appointed new membership chairman to take the place of Mrs. D. J. Bowman who had to resign because of her work.

After the business meeting Mr. S. E. Staines a trustee of the Allendale Public Library, gave a short talk explaining the situation of the library and the hope that voters on Nov. 4 will approve the plan for the town to take over its operation.

Mrs. J. R. Foster, program chairman, introduced Principal O'Connor who in turn introduced the special teachers. Louis Murgia of Physical Ed. gave a summary of his program and his general aims for the future. These physical activities Mr. Murgia said will afford an opportunity for the individual or group to act in situations which are physically wholesome, mentally stimulating and socially sound.

Mrs. Ruth Smitley, music teacher, devoted her talk to introducing the parents to some new features in the music department: use of tonettes and flutaphones in teaching sight reading and ear training to 3rd and 4th grades. Also the school has purchased and audeo harp for teaching chord progress and harmony to the upper grades.

Mrs. Austen, Home Ec. teacher spoke of her work—to help the girls fit into their homes more helpfully and happily. She complimented the mothers' teaching and guidance and said cooperation is essential.

Mr. Phillip Gray, Industrial Arts, gave a short history of manual training in schools which was interesting. His classes are constructing a cabinet for the library and making gifts for Christmas.

The parents were then invited to visit their child's class rooms where the teacher explained the curriculum and told of the class work and general aims for the year.

DAUGHTER BORN

A baby girl, Mary Frances, was born Tuesday, Oct. 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cavanagh Jr. 107 Myrtle Ave. The baby was born in Good Samaritan hospital, Suffern, N. Y. She joins a sister Ann, 13, and a brother Richard 10.

GIRL RIDER HAS BROKEN JAW WHEN HORSE STUMBLES

Doris Acker of Oradell was riding her own horse with a party of riders in the woods about a half mile from Orchard St. Wednesday afternoon when her horse stumbled. She was thrown off her horse into the woods and suffered a broken jaw and facial lacerations.

Members of the riding group raced to the Kennedy Riding Stables and called for the Allendale Ambulance. Dr. Frederick Kanning accompanied the ambulance. Seven members of the volunteer ambulance corps attended.

Miss Acker was thrown in woods that were very dense and the ground underfoot was muddy. It was necessary for the corpsmen to cut away the underbrush in order to bring her safely to the waiting ambulance. She was rushed to Valley Hospital for treatment.

Those who assisted in the case were Pete Cauwenberghs, Jack Phillips, Archie Farrell, Geo. Christopher, Fred Thurston and James Kievet.

Patrolman Frank A. Parenti Jr was on duty at the time and answered the call. Patrolman James Wilkes of Saddle River also attended.

There is a chance for you to win a prize tonight at the benefit card party for Allendale's Volunteer Firemen.

Jack Comley, Mallinson St., Captain of the Volunteer Ambulance Corps, is in Asbury Park, N.J., attending the joint International and New Jersey First Aid Conference as a representative of the local organization.

An enjoyable evening is in store for you tonight at the Fireman's card party.

Residents Express Their Approval Of Zoning

FLASH

The second reading of the proposed zoning ordinance was held at the regular Borough Council meeting last night in the Memorial Hall. The Mayor indicated that no formal action would be taken by the Council on the ordinance during the meeting. At press time, the Council was hearing a public discussion of the ordinance.

Having completed two informal hearings and the one formal hearing required under the rules of procedure for an ordinance, the Borough Council have entered the final stages in consideration of the proposed zoning ordinance.

As advertised, the formal hearing was held last night at the regular Council meeting in the War Memorial Building, where the ordinance was to have got its second reading. The second reading is the last formal procedure to be taken before the ordinance can come to a vote by the council. Amendments can be made after the second reading, in which case they must be advertised and a formal hearing held on the amended version.

The technical procedure for delaying a vote on an ordinance after a second reading is to adjourn the meeting to a definite date.

It is known that some of the councilmen, among them Mayo Harvey and Helen Hanson, believed that this would be the action to be taken on the zoning ordinance.

The second informal public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance held a week ago at the public school brought forth few new arguments for or against the ordinance. However a substantial number of letters were received by the council favoring the zoning ordinance at the hearing. Some strong support of the measures was expressed from the floor.

J. R. Foster, E. Allendale Ave., gave a detailed rebuttal to the critics of the Council and Planning Board. Mr. Foster's speech was built around four main points: (1) He objected to the unfair attacks which he said had been made on the integrity of members of the Council and the Planning Board. (2) Many of the objections to the new zoning ordinance, he said, are based on a misunderstanding of the facts. (3) He maintained that the ordinance is reasonable and the general welfare of Allendale requires that it be passed. (4) He held that owners of vacant land will not be injured by the passage of the zoning ordinance.

Mr. Foster, a consulting economist and former school board member, said that he decided to do some real research on the zoning ordinance as a result of the protests raised by the issue. He said he was spurred to personally investigate this matter because of the "abuse being unjustly meted out to city officials."

As a resident of Allendale for nine years, Mr. Foster said that he knew the charges against members of the Council and Planning Board to be untrue. "These men are persons of the highest integrity, who have sacrificed much time and energy in behalf of the community," he declared.

In defense of the large lot provisions in the ordinance Mr. (Please Turn to Page Six)

LOCAL RIDER WINS EVENT QUALIFYING FOR NATIONAL SHOW

Barbara Walter won three classes in novice horsemanship at the Harrison Horse Show held at White Plains, N. Y. Sunday, and by capturing the prize in the "Good Hands" class, she became eligible for the National Horse Show to be held in Madison Square Garden.

The other events Miss Walter won were in novice horsemanship and limit horsemanship. She also placed fifth in the American Horse Show Association medal class.

Sunny Skies Smile At Ambulance Dedication

A substantial number of visitors from out of town as well as local citizens turned out Sunday afternoon to see the new ambulance and attend the dedication services held at the ambulance shed.

Mayor Leslie Johnson, addressing members of the Volunteer Ambulance Corps and the audience, said he felt it a great honor to dedicate the new ambulance and said the town could take pride in having a civic minded organization which for 15 years had devoted itself so unselfishly to serving the community.

Mayor Nelson Lumley of Waldwick paid his respects to the Corps and said that his town would not know where to turn in case of emergency if it were not for the Allendale Volunteer Ambulance Corps.

Postmaster Archie Farrell welcomed the guests and introduced the Rev. Harry W. Goodrich of Archer Church who gave the invocation. Father Andrew J. Kalafsky gave the benediction and blessed the ambulance.

Mayor William Dean of Upper Saddle River was also present.

The ambulance was on display during the entire afternoon. Members of the Corps were there, in uniform, to answer questions about the new equipment. Jack Comley, captain of the Corps who is in charge of the "rig" described the many new features incorporated in the ambulance.

He reported that a committee consisting of Peter Cauwenberghs, Ed Grosman, and he were commissioned to gather recommendations from all members of the Corps, and then to order the Cadillac superior ambulance equipped to meet Allendale's particular needs.

Among the innovations suggested by this committee is a first aid equipment cabinet which has been built which has been built into the back door. This feature will be a great help in emergencies. (Please Turn To Page 8)

PROWLER EVADES POLICE IN BORO

The fact that Allendale has an elusive prowler was confirmed this week when members of the local police were noticed working, long past their regular hours in hopes of nabbing him.

The marshals have been handicapped by the home owners who have not reported his presence till long after the noise disturbed them. In some cases the report hasn't been made until the next day.

Homeowners are asked to call the police at once if they have any suspicious noises and if at night not to turn on the lights when making the call. The police are confident they can apprehend the gentlemen if they get cooperation.

GEESE FLY SOUTH SNOW HITS HERE

A foreshadowing of the freak snowstorm we had this week was witnessed by a number of citizens last week-end who watched a half dozen individual flocks of Canadian geese flying south.

There are reports that three flights flew over town on Saturday and two separate formations of geese were seen on Sunday. They honked loudly as though to warn of snow close behind them.

The snow came Monday morning and landed an inch and a half deep on green lawns trees not yet turned, and chrysanthemums blooming in full fall color. The snow lasted only until noon, but its brief stay was long enough to warn of the winter ahead.

LOCAL CLUB HOSTESS AT TEA FOR STATE OFFICERS

The Woman's Club of Allendale honored Woman's Club presidents and other officers in the 11th District of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs at their annual Presidents' Tea last Friday in the parish house of the Church of the Epiphany.

Twenty-three official visitors were present at the tea, presided over by Mrs. Charles R. Vollaro, president of the Allendale club. Mrs. Martin Husling acted as hostess.

Brief talks and acknowledgments were given by Mrs. A. Shurtleff Drew, 11th District Vice-president; Mrs. Norris Bowen, state legislative chairman and president of the Ridgewood club, and by Mrs. William Keller, former Federation officer.

The women were entertained by Josephine Lott (Mrs. George P. Lott Jr.), lyric soprano, who delighted the visitors with a varied program ranging from buoyant Irish folk songs to an aria from Verdi's "Traviata"

Correction

Last week we incorrectly reported the remarks of S. T. Van Houten at the Borough Council meeting.

Mr. Van Houten said that the present A zone of lots 100 feet by 100 feet were inadequate for sewage disposal. He feels, however, that the proposed A zone of lots 100 feet by 150 feet is more than adequate.

Mr. Van Houten would like to see the lot measurement of AA zone property 120 feet by 150 feet. He is not in favor of the triple A zoning.

Also, in the same story, Mrs. Carl Waibel, 62 Franklin Tpke. read a letter previously sent to the Council objecting to the changing of the Waibel's plan for subdivision and development of this property which had previously been approved by the Allendale Planning Board and the Hackensack Planning Board, but now had been changed by the zoning map. She asked if any consideration had been given her letter, and said that her husband had built four homes on lots of approximately 75 feet by 140 feet which she thought people considered a credit to the community.

Mayor Leslie Johnson said that the Council would give all letters proper consideration.

Don't forget the Lions Club Magic Show at the school tonight and tomorrow night.

Council Faces Problems On Business Zoning

The controversial matter of business zoning for certain establishments which now operate in residential zones under non-conforming status continues to plague the Borough Council in its consideration of the new zoning law.

It was brought up at the informal hearing on the proposed ordinance a week ago by Attorney Daniel Amster of Waldwick. He presented a petition for the Turnpike Tavern located on Franklin Turnpike just this side of the borough line between Waldwick and Allendale. Mr. Amster's main point was that the Turnpike was bound on the south by a number of business establishments in Waldwick and that by placing the tavern in a residential zone, the ordinance was "unreasonable and capricious."

Mr. Amster said that such a classification was "an invasion of the right of property" and unconstitutional. Councilman Harvey, however, said that the present owners of the Tavern knew it was zoned as residential under a non-conforming status when they bought it.

Harold Christopher's Crescent Garage was another establishment which asked to be zoned for business instead of residential. Michael Dwyer, in presenting the case for Crescent Garage, said that at the time the garage was purchased it was zoned for "light industrial" and now the new zoning map labels it "residential."

Mr. Dwyer asked the council why the east side of the railroad should be zoned for light industry and the west side (on which the Crescent Garage is located) should be zoned residential.

Mr. Dwyer extended his remarks to urge the Council to think of the advantages in tax rates which new light industry would bring to town.

"Few towns can afford the luxury of keeping out industry," George De Young, O.D. Complete Visual Care 4:30 to 8:30 By Appointment 102 W. Allendale Ave. Allendale Allendale 1-3997

Mr. Dwyer said. He added that many towns had done well to attract modern industrial plants because the buildings these days look like "college campuses" and are a credit to any community. Planning Board Chairman Francis X. Scafuro reminded the audience that zoning a business which now operates under a "non conforming status" would open the door for future business which might not be the kind which existed at the time the zone was changed.

The Pat Job tavern again came up when a petition drawn by Mrs. Robert Rich was presented to the council. This petition had 50 signers asking the Council not to zone the tavern for business. It now operates under a "non conforming status."

The petition stated that the industrial strip on Crescent Ave. from the railroad north, up to but not including Mr. Job's tavern, was "too close to the residential section" and that any extension of this strip to include the tavern would destroy the "peace and quiet of the neighborhood."

Mr. Job maintained that the signatures on the petition had been obtained by misrepresentation. "As a matter of fact many of those same people signed my petition asking that my place be zoned for business" he said.

Councilman Cobb cut short this exchange by saying that the meeting was called to discuss zoning, not to 'squabble.'

C. OF C. ASK FOR MEETING WITH C'CIL ON NEW ZONING

The Chamber of Commerce met last Monday for their regular monthly meeting at the Turnpike Tavern for luncheon and President Archie Farrell polled each member present as to the condition of his business "good, bad or indifferent." With one exception all reported business as being good.

Zoning and the possibility of a bank opening in Waldwick were the other matters discussed by the board. The general consensus on the latter was it would hurt business and to offset it plans for promoting the shopping here were discussed. On the matter of the zoning ordinance a letter was directed sent to the council asking for a meeting between the board, council and planning board before the ordinance is passed. Observers gathered the real estate members were against the AAA zoning program as being a handicap in their profession. Merchants interested in a larger audience feel a restraint too tight will stop any increase in their business.

While attendance was light, the discussion was spirited at all times and the meeting lasted well over the regular hour time.

The outstanding pledges just about equal this debt, so it is imperative that everyone who has made a pledge, pay it in full before the deadline. How Do You Stand Mr. Candidate?

As in the custom, the Allendale Press presents to the candidates the questions submitted by our readers and incidently, the voters who on Nov. 4 will decide who is to govern the municipality.

The answers to each query and from each candidate will be published in the issue of October 31 and will give the voters a chance to know in advance the policy of each candidate. Our policy is to tell all the facts on public issues and let the people decide how to vote.

The following are the questions submitted:

1. Taxes: What can be done to lower our tax bill?
2. Planning: Assuming that the present proposed ordinance is passed by the council are you in favor of any revisions and what are they?
3. There are a number of businesses and other operations that operate under a permission granted by the council and therefore Non-Conforming. Would you change the status of these non-conforming uses and why?
4. A possibility of a trunk sewer is in the future, we know, but would you push the idea for a trunk line sewer for the business district and how do you feel assessments should be levied?
5. What public improvements do you intend to introduce during the coming year?
6. Are you in favor of the municipality taking over the Library.
7. Are you in favor of the municipality taking over the operation of the swimming pool
8. In your view, what steps should be taken to prepare Allendale to remain a solvent and attractive community with the influx of population that is expected in this area?

We hope the candidates will answer these questions and return the answers to us by October 27 for publication.

Our Mailbox
Dear Sir:
Instead of giving our town a "beauty treatment", how about giving it a "safety treatment"? To be specific, how about more police protection for the female population of Allendale who are left in "manless" homes or who of necessity must leave their homes during those hours when there is no patrolling?
At present there is a small cloud of fear beginning to penetrate certain neighborhoods due to mysterious prowler who only operates during the "un-guarded" hours. Already some criminal acts have been performed but the police are powerless to act because of the hesitancy of the victims to press complaint.
Our present police force is made up of fine, able men, but they are only human and can not work twelve hour shifts as some would have them do. Therefore a police force large enough to protect the growing population is certainly indicated. Why wait until some tragic act of violence forces the issue. Must a human sacrifice always be made before the seriousness of a situation is realized? This town has received wide publicity for the far sightedness of its planners. But are they so far sighted as to miss seeing the obvious? Wake up before it's too late.
(Worried Female)

Dear Sir:
The requirements of the building code in Allendale demand that in order to secure a permit to build a home, either an attached or detached garage must be erected. What are the reasons for this requirement? The only one that seems feasible is to add an additional $1,000. or $1,500. cost to the home which will provide increased taxes.
With the high cost of building today, most people are counting every dollar of expenditure and if they are required to erect a garage they often have to sacrifice other advantages and conveniences for the home itself.

Some people do not even have automobiles, others may have the choice of buying a car or building a garage. To demand the erection of a garage seems like "putting the cart before the horse" and I believe it is very unreasonable, unfair and even unconstitutional.
Early this morning I checked the houses on my street and counted fourteen cars standing in the driveways where every except one has a garage. The point that I am trying to bring out is that the building code is presenting an unnecessary hardship to the prospective buyer. There are a number of homes at present where people do not have a garage, if this law is to apply to the new homes, it should apply to the old ones as well.
Everyone wants a garage if and when they can afford one and they should be given the opportunity to decide when to do this.
I earnestly recommend that this requirement be eliminated from the building code as being an unnecessary and unfair hardship.

At a very impressive ceremony their parents were presented with miniature pins. Congratulations are in order for Glenn Hall and Murray Kaplan who were advanced to Star Scouts.

is planned for this weekend. A very interesting program has been planned.

On Saturday Nov. 1st Cub Scouts with the Den Chiefs will place door nob hangers on all Allendale Homes. The Boy Scouts will have a parade through town, object to get out the vote.

The Christmas wreaths have been distributed and the boys are canvassing the town. Watch for the boy he needs your help.

Mrs. Leon Tice, formerly Lorna Noyes of Allendale, has returned to the area with her four children and is living temporarily on Mechanics St., Ramsey. She is awaiting proceed orders from her husband who is a Warrant Officer stationed in Ludwigsburg, Germany.

Relatives of Mrs. Tice living in Allendale are Mrs. Clara Cooper, Crescent Ave., and Mrs. Harold Christopher, W. Crescent Ave.

The four children waiting to join their father in Germany are Douglas, 13; Leon, 6; Steven, 4; and Lorna, 2.

COUNCIL HEARING

(Continued From Page One) Foster said that the minimum fee reflect the cost of the house which would be built on it. Also, he said the ordinance would not bring "only the wealthy" into Allendale as some critics had charged, because the new ordinance kept the same proportion of small home owners as now exists.

And as far as financial loss to property owners is concerned, Mr. Foster argued, "failure to maintain the character of the land will only result in reduced property values."

Postmaster Archie Farrell strongly disagreed with Mr. Foster. He said he had lived in Allendale 30 years and knew it to have been built on small homes. He cited his own street, Iroquois Ave., as an example and said that many of the residents had lots of no more than 60 foot frontage. "We'll never get anybody in Allendale," Mr. Farrell said, "if the Triple A zone goes through."

S. T. Van Houten challenged Frank Mc Cord's remark that he could singlehandedly take care of his two and a half acre yard without the help of a gardener. "But then you are an abnormal man, Mr. McCord," Mr. Van Houten said. Laughter broke out over this remark and it was decided by a member of the audience that Allendale had two types of citizens: the "power mower type" and the "hand mower type." The meeting then became serious again.

"As I understand it," Mr. Van Houten continued, "the general gist of Mr. Foster's argument is to keep the population out of Allendale by advocating large lots."

George Wilson read a prepared statement objecting to the large lot provisions of the ordinance.

George Christopher said that he was not objecting to zoning as such, and not favorably to small lots, but asked the Council to be "reasonable" about the ordinance proposals and not have the lot sizes as large as the ordinance describes.

John Lothian, Forest Road, concluded the four hour session by noting that "it was humanly impossible to satisfy everyone on zoning." He told the council: "You are faced with a grave responsibility for swapping something new for that which is outmoded."

"It is like the difference between a 1928 model car and a 1952 model. Both will run, but the difference lies in performance."

Among the letters received by the Mayor and Council prior to the meeting was one from M. E. Higgins Jr., E. Allendale Ave., who wished to register his approval of the proposed zoning ordinance. Other letters expressing approval came from Edwin Kartz, 93 Elmwood Ave.; Bernard J. Davala, 5 Crescent Pl.; Ray V. Jones, Orchard Pl.; and Durrant Pack, 15 Crescent Place.

Donald W. Anderson, 112

Dale Ave., said he represented "a large group of plain citizens, busy raising their children and too busy to hire lawyers and hold meetings, who look to you (Borough Council) as their elected representatives to see that their welfare is protected." He urged passage of the proposed ordinance.

Letters objecting to the ordinance came from Jan C. Galenkamp, Forest Road, who said he was opposed to the triple A zoning. He said it would be best for Allendale to be zoned so lots be no larger than 100 feet by 150 feet.

Romeo R. Napolitano, objected to his property being changed from A zone to AA zone as proposed in the ordinance. He said his neighborhood did not warrant larger lots. Ivar Martin, 525 Brookside Ave., was opposed to triple A and double A zones and said, "this would throw property definitely into a class where only a luxury type (house) could be built."

William Dailey hailed from New York City. He is learning country ways. Very good talks have been given by Jimmy Goodrich and Susan Geismar about Jamestown and Cape Cod, respectively. Both children had pictures to illustrate their talks, and Susan even had little wood cuts of John and Priscilla Alden.

Many pupils bring stories and pictures about their work.

We have enjoyed two movies "Wings Over South America" and "The Rubber River." We are delighted by the beautiful new furniture of our class room. Individual desks and chairs of light wood. And the floors so beautifully polished. We are taking good care of everything.

LADIES ENJOY SHOW AT ARCHER HALL

The stage of Archer Hall was transformed Wednesday night into a living room of rich colors and design for the fashion show which attracted more than 125 people.

Through the combined effort of local merchants and the women of the church, the show proved to be both a financial and entertainment success.

Mrs. A. Frances Dick, owner, and Mrs. Edna Dexter, dress-maker of The Country Shop presented more than 50 different displays of sport clothes, afternoon dresses, "after five" dresses and evening clothes. The final number in the program was the presentation of Miss Elinor Critchley wearing an evening gown made by Mrs. Dexter.

The setting was done by Mrs. Arthur Lutton of the Arts Shop and consisted of a grey antique satin hand print drapery at the back of the stage, with two chairs, green and rose brocade, and a handmade screen of imported chintz in the foreground.

Teen-age models were Carol Lee Mowerson, Gail Brinker, Isabel Ivany, Meta Brown, Beth Goodrich and Elinor Critchley.

Adult models were Messers R. Kindred, J. Webb, J. Winters, B. Wittmer, M. Olsen, C. Lane, M. DeJongh, P. B. Hamilton and W. Lake of Ramsey.

Mrs. James Secor, chairman of the fashion show made grateful acknowledgement to The Country Shop, The Arts Shop, Arnold's Framing Shop, Jean Anderson Hats and Joe Dixon for their generous help.

The first social meeting of the Ramsey High School Hi Y was held recently at the home of Chet Ellis, Sunset Boulevard, Wyckoff. The business of the year was launched by the appointment of a program committee, which will take charge of the many activities of the Hi-Y during the year.

AMBULANCE AFFAIR

With justifiable pride, Mr. Comley told members of the audience that he believed "Allendale had the best equipped ambulance in the state of New Jersey".

The new ambulance can, if necessary carry four patients. It has innumerable compartments for all the gear necessary to meet emergencies: crash truck equipment, asbestos gloves, fire extinguisher, rubber gloves for handling electric wiring, stretchers, a restretcher to take patients down stairs, thermos bottles, extra bandages, splints, search lights lantern, linen closet — in fact the latest and best equipment that can be put into a hospital on wheels.

The new rescuator, which will travel with the ambulance at all times, was also on display. It is a three way combination appliance—rescuator inhalator and aspirator. Its various uses were demonstrated by corpsmen.

Dan Coughlin and Francis Westbrook of Superior Coach Sales Co. in East Orange, through whom the ambulance was ordered, said that the new ambulance is the first of its kind designed especially for rescue work and that future models would be similar.

CUB SCOUTS HOLD SOAP BOX DERBY

The soap box derby of Pack 59 held last Saturday was a great success.

The winners in Class A racers were Glenn Critchley in first place and Kevin Anderson in second place.

In the Class B racers, Geo. Lott captured first place and Tommy McLaughlin second place. In the slalom race, the same racers in the same order were the winners.

The Dad's race was very exciting, especially the one between Bill Indoe and Mr. Rumsey. Bill Indoe won that one in grand style. As for the rest of the dads, Mr. Elwood Critchley won first place and Don Anderson won second place in the Class A event. In the Class B event, George Lott won first place and Vail Frost second place.

Unfortunately, there was one casualty among all the racers. Our hats go off to Sandy Monaghan who took it like a sport. He was on his way down the track when his racer did not behave and decided to roll over two or three times. He crawled out of the racer, brushed himself off, rubbed a few bumps and then watched the rest of the races from the side lines.

Pen Points

By

REE QUACKENBUSH

Hi Neighbors,

I have been criticised for not writing more about local happenings. Thank you for your criticism. I'm always glad to hear what you want more of, or want to know about. You may be surprised to find out the effect of National or State politics has on our little town of Allendale.

The A.D.A. has come out for (1) Master Planning (2) Increase of State aid. Is this pure coincidence that the A. D. A. lists these priority supports in their 1952 platform, when small towns are becoming more aware of the need of planning? What's more, when towns are in the process of making "Master Plans". That is a $64. question. Just what is the A. D.A. and what can its effects have on Allendale. There is the second $64. question.

The Americans for Democratic Action has been branded as a direct left wing organization continually attacked by top newspaper writers of the day. The attackers of the A.D.A. aren't some Honkey tonk pen pushers, making with a voice. These eminent men of the press are well versed in their opinions, because of their factual knowledge.

The A.D.A. does not support anything that is anti communist. It backs anything that is against anti Communism in forceful, bellowing actions with subtle tones. The A.D.A. opposes any legislation that will outlaw any political party. Now just what party is in question in the United States? The Democrats or Republicans? Nay. It opposes any Congressional Investigation Committees, in fact, it is anti Committee. Anything that may produce facts on corruption in government. These oppositions are just a small part of their platform.

One of their speakers, who received a great ovation at their convention in New York

City was one Harold Lenz. Of course, he means nothing to you, because you live in Allendale. But he was just demoted from "dean of students to professors" at one of our American Colleges. Thanks to the veterans groups that brought pressure showing his activities in the A.D.A. The Executive Director of the City of N. Y. and State A.D.A. announced it will be powerful in the coming election. This, I wouldn't doubt for one minute. I have heard and seen pressure groups work, namely the "Red organization" of the PAC. These kind of boys in pressure groups get their boys in office and work through them.

Now, just what has all this to do with our "Master Planning"? I have given you a small, very small, incite into their broad thinking, what they stand for in our land of Democracy. The A.D.A. is a highly organized outfit with a platform. When they mention "Master Planning," they mean they have plans for Master Planning. The Municipal Planning Enabling Act is a law of our State permitting us to have a "Master Plan," if we so choose. It is a law to protect our rights as citizens of the State. How this law is interpreted can be dangerous. The State, as well as the County, have a Master Plan, controlled by the police power of the State. This puts Allendale and other municipalities in a position of subjection to pressure brought by the A.D.A., on the departments of the County, State or even the Federal government, that is in control of "Master Planning."

Where will the A.D.A. strike? Where is it bringing pressure, if any? Your guess is as good as mine, but as long as "Master Planning" is advocated by the A.D.A. you can bet they will bring pressure for their advantage. You can also bet they will have A.D.A. men planted to carry out their interpretation of the Municipal Planning Enabling Act, to further their gains, whatever they may be.

Allendale is in the throes of "Master Planning". I believe in town planning 100 per cent, if planned wisely, for it will save many dollars in the long run. This article is not written to denounce any town; nor is it penned to further any parties denouncement of the said plan. I am pointedly speaking to you, who say, "It can't happen here". I am arousing the Planning Board to the fact that the A.D.A. advocates "Master Planning". I consider this fact to have a pertinent meaning and I suggest that our powers that are in charge of our "Master Planning" look into the matter. But fast. . . 'till Friday
