O'Connor Was To Have Assisted With Corps' Demonstration

Had not Saturday's storm prevented the exhibit from taking place, Capt. Paul D. O'Connor of the Allendale Amulance Corps would have been one of 12 men in the state to give a public demonstration of resuscitation, it was revealed by Allendale's delegation on their return from the Second Annual Convention of the New Jersey State First Aid Council at Anderson's Hall, East Orange.

The delegation was proud of the fact that one of their number, the most recent unit to affiliate with the state council, was among the 12 selected for the demonstration. Present at the convention sessions from Allendale corps were O'Connor, F. A. Farrell, Harold Ryan, Kenneth Booth and Harold Christie.

Host for the convention was the first aid unit of Essex County Voiture, Forty and Eight. A demonstration was given in the afternoon by the East Orange Fire Department rescue squads. Reports were given at the afternoon meeting, followed by a banquet, parade and closing session. None of the state officers elected resides in Bergen County.
