

Allendale Cops 442 To Crack Down On Speeders

Allendale Police Marshalls started last week to crack down on speed violators in the Borough, and on children who insist upon riding bikes through the railroad underpass at West Allendale Avenue, Kenneth Booth, chief marshall, has announced,

For the law-breaking bike riders, Booth said, warnings are no longer being issued. Instead a summons with a $5 fine attached will be given immediately.

The habit of speeding in the 20 mile zones within the Borough limits, he said, must also be broken, and he has already issued orders to the marshalls to pick up anyone, whether a resident of the Borough or not, who violates the speed laws.