

RAMSEY GRADUATE NAMED TO HIGHEST ENGINEERING SOC.

Richard P. Slade, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Slade of 6 Hillside Avenue Mahwah, is among 89 Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute students named to Tau Beta Pi honorary society, one of the highest honors bestowed upon undergraduate engineering students. The society is the only honorary organization drawing its membership from all undergraduate technical departments.

The new members had to possess scholastic records, and personal and social qualities attributed to leaders. Initiation will be held on Sunday May 3rd.

A graduate of Rensay High School, Slade is a junior in Rensselaer's electrical engineering department and a cadet in the Air Force ROTC. He is a member of the Rensselaer Radio Club.

GIRL SCOUTS TO SHOW MOVIES APR. 13

There will be movies for all Girl Scouts and Brownies at Brookside School on Monday, April 13. Parents have been cordially invited to attend, but if they do not plan to do so, they are reminded to call at the School for their children at about 4:15 p. m. instead of the regular meeting places. Girls from St. Luke's are asked to remind their parents about the movies.

An invitation has also been extended to all Waldwick and Saddle River Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Movies to be shown are "Let's Go Troop Camping," "Also, "Hands Across the Sea," and "The Growing Years".

This Charles James creation, "Muted Roses," was one of the highlights of General Aniline & Film Corporation's "La Sinfonia del Color" (Symphony of Color). The goodwill fashion show recently completed a tour of Latin America where "the six Anso girls" (April Stride photographed here) presented the latest in U.S. and European fashions in lavish color. "Muted Roses" is a short evening gown in taffeta with a draped fichu and slim princess lines, pale grey with pink roses against a white background, slim to knees and gently flared below. (ANS)

Dear Townspeople,

The month of April has been declared "Cancer Control Month" by the American Congress. During this time the American Cancer Society, through its large army of volunteer workers throughout each state in the Union endeavors to reach each and every home with a message about Cancer. Women's Evening Club is doing the job for Allendale.

Funds are solicited to carry on the Society's three point program: research, education and service.

The Society's field army of volunteer workers renders personal aid to patients such as cancer dressings transportation and home services. A contribution for this worthy cause will be most appreciated.

The check should be made payable to American Cancer Society, Bergen County Chapter and mailed to the Town Chairman. Such contributions will be credited to Allendale.

Town Chairman,
Mrs. Thomas H. Zane

The small announcement in last week's Press concerning the forming of a new group that are banding together for common interests and not for sociability, caused some raised eyebrows among the local political leaders.

HOSP'AL ANNOUNCES NEW VISITING HOURS

New visiting hours will be put into effect at Hackensack Hospital on April 15, it was announced today. The new hours have been arranged to make visiting more convenient for families and friends of the patients, and at the same time to permit good nursing, according to Martin S. Ulan, assistant administrator.

The new schedule of visiting hours will be as follows:

Semi-private and multiple bed rooms, 2 to 8 p. m. Maternity floors, 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. and 7 to 8:30 p. m. Children's department, 2 to 7:30 p. m. Private patients (except maternity cases and children), noon to 8 p. m.

All visitors to the various floors of Hackensack Hospital are required to obtain passes in the main lobby before visiting patients. In this way the hospital administration is able to control visiting so that patients' rooms are not overcrowded, Mr. Ulan explained. In certain cases, it is necessary in the interests of the patient to limit visitors, he continued.

Only husbands are allowed to visit on the maternity floor, and only parents may visit children who are hospitalized. Surgical patients are not permitted on the day of their operation, either before or after surgery.

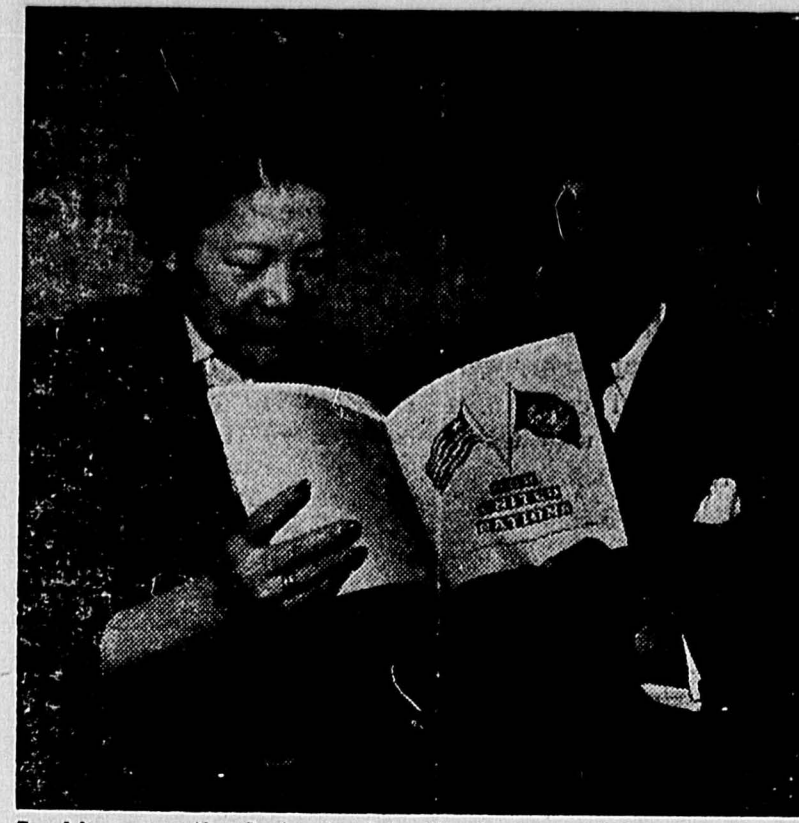

Four hospital rooms are maintained by funds supplied by the Woman's Auxiliary of Hackensack Hospital.

High waters of the current week will have no effect on trout previously stocked.

Fish and Game Commissioner James C. Salvato announced yesterday that trout rarely move more than 100 feet from the point of stocking.

To keep up with the ever increasing number of babies born at Hackensack Hospital, members of the cutting committee of the Woman's Auxiliary cut 425 yards of diapering in one month to be hemmed for the maternity floor supply.

Two surgical dressings field days and Donation Day are special affairs conducted annually by the Woman's Auxiliary for the benefit of Hackensack Hospital.

GOOD TRIAL

Good said, and it usually took eight weeks after each attack for the dog to get back to normal.

Mr. Good, who said he had owned dogs all his life, said that his dog had started to fail during the past three months. He noticed that Lady was suffering from paralysis three days before her death. He testified that the dog ate in one week, 2.5 pounds of Gaines meal, 12 cans of dog food and three days supply of horse meat. "I ate soup when that dog was eating more than I was," Mr. Good said.

Mrs. Good corroborated her husband's testimony regarding the feeding of the dog. She said that her husband fed Lady twice a day and that he fed the dog on Friday night prior to the dog's death on Saturday.

Mrs. Currens testified that she had entered the garage on the premises of the Good home on West Maple St. Saturday morning, March 22, and had removed the body of the dog to Office of Public Safety where pictures were taken.

The photographs were admitted as evidence in the hearing. Dr. Paul Sova, veterinarian, identified the pictures as those of the dog on which he had performed an autopsy March 22.

Dr. Sova said that he estimated the dog's age to be two years, and said the bone structure was slightly less than that of a normal English bull dog.

The dog weighed 20 pounds at the time of the autopsy, Dr. Sova said, and testified that normal weight for the dog would be between 40 and 50 pounds.

The autopsy revealed no presence of food in the dog's alimentary canal, no evidence of disease, and Dr. Sova testified that the dog's death was Acting fire Chief Nat Left directed firemen in extinguishing a blaze that came out of an old tree located on the property of William T. Hughes, W. Allendale Avenue, Monday afternoon.

Both trucks answered the call. Firemen quickly put out the fire which burned in the open field directly south of the business section.

Captain Eisenhower of the SPSA testified that he had investigated the case and had asked Mr. Good why he had not taken the dog to a Doctor and Mr. Good replied, "I've spent enough money on that dog."

Chief Wilson identified the photographs entered as evidence and testified that Mrs. Currens had brought the dog to his office Saturday afternoon.

ANNOUNCING! LOWER PRICES ON ALL Chrysler - Plymouth '53 Models

NOW! GREATER VALUE! SUBSTANTIAL SAVINGS!

Effective immediately, the retail prices of all 1953 Chrysler-Plymouth cars are substantially reduced, bringing you the greatest car value in history!

When the 1953 models were introduced last fall, even though completely new and advanced in design, they were priced on a "Hold-the-line" basis. We emphasized then our constant aim of quality, performance, safety and comfort, at decreased rather than increased prices. And we pinned our faith on volume to achieve this objective.

The removal of production controls has made it possible to produce Chrysler-Plymouth cars at the highest rate in many months. Now that higher volume is being achieved and we may reasonably expect it to continue, the prices are lowered accordingly.

Price reductions apply to the entire line — all body types. We will be glad to give you complete details about the new prices.

Chrysler-Plymouth, long famous for greater values, continues to bring you the quality features of high-priced cars — Now at even lower cost to you!

N.J.-N.Y. VOLUNTEER FIREMENS PARADE AT SPRING VALLEY

Lawrence Bienskie, parade marshal in charge of arrangements for the New Jersey and New York Volunteer Firemen's parade scheduled at Spring Valley, N. Y. on Saturday, June 27, announced at the last committee meeting that arrangements have been started for the biggest parade ever held by the Association.

Over 100 fire companies with their apparatus are expected to form the line of march which will also include many ladies' auxiliary units. The Association's parade, an annual event, is a colorful spectacle and draws large crowds of spectators.

Early responses to invitations sent out several weeks ago by the committee reveal that the first 71 companies accepting would bring 69 musical units and 136 pieces of fire fighting apparatus.

The annual convention, at which association officers are elected and the year's business is reviewed, is slated for Fri., June 26. Each year, the convention and parade is held in a different town. The Spring Valley Fire Department is one of the organizers of the Association. Last year's parade was held in Maywood.

Wild Flowers

With the advent of spring and the interest in growing flowers and plants, the Press is happy to present to its readers this column on Wildflowers written by Mrs. Abbe Rose Cox Craven of Allendale. The flowers Mrs. Craven describes are to be found in this vicinity.

By Abbe Rose Cox Craven
Most failures in wild flower gardening are due to lack of understanding the peculiar requirements of their environmental needs. Flower lovers often do most to hasten the extermination of wild flowers by trying to transplant them to average garden soil.

Acidity (created by decomposed leaf-mold) moisture and partial or deep shade take care of the requirements of most Northeastern wild flowers. Some few wild plants seem to adapt themselves to almost any garden condition such as Iris, wild phlox and columbine.

The choice of wild flowers already in bloom. Hepatica, spring beauty, carydalis, trailing arbutus and shortia will continue to increase in beauty for the next few weeks. I am adding to this list one of the oldest of plants to look for in the woods which one can not really call a flower. It is called field horsetail. It is the survivor of an ancient race of plants said to have grown millions of years ago. It appears in two forms in one season.

The first appearance is the fertile plant about six inches high and resembling a horse's tail. It soon dies down and about a month later is returned by an entirely different form resembling a tiny pine tree. This form is known as the sterile plant of field horsetail. They are found in moist, shady places.

Virginia bluebell or cowslip is starting to bloom now. It is a charming small plant which does not last very long. It blooms freely for about three weeks and suddenly dies down. The plant has blue green leaves and clusters of pinkish lavender buds which open into sky

BLOODMOBILE FAILS TO FILL QUOTA ON WALDWICK VISIT

Due to an unusually high number of rejections, only 149 pints of blood were received at the Waldwick Bloodmobile Tuesday. Quota for the day was 200 pints.

According to those in charge, most of the 39 rejections were due to virus and cold infections. Of the 204 who volunteered, a total of 188 persons appeared at the municipal building where the Bloodmobile was held between 1 and 7 p.m.

Local chairman was Mr. Angus Simpson. Girl Scouts acted as baby sitters for mothers who gave blood.

A breakdown of the donors showed Allendale had 43 donors who made their donation under the guidance of Mrs. W. B. Quaintance, chairman of the Allendale branch.

The Ramapo Valley chapter would like to express their thanks to all who kept donor appointments or worked in any capacity to assure the success of the Bloodmobile visit.

blue bell-shaped flowers. In the wild state it is usually found in moist meadows and along streams.

Bloodroot, starting to bloom now is very showy, but very fragile. Wind or rain will cause all its petals to shatter. The flower resembles a white water lily. Its one large scalloped leaf remains wrapped around the stem and does not completely uncurl itself until the flower shatters. The plants increase slowly from the extension of its creeping root stock. Bloodroot gets its name from the red juice bleeding out of the root stock when cut. The Indians used it for dye.

SAFETY FILMS NOW READY FOR SHOWING

Four 16 mm. films produced last year by the National Board of Fire Underwriters have won Awards of Merit in the 1953 safety film contest sponsored by the National Safety Council through its National Committee on Films for Safety.

Three of the films, "What to Do Until the Fire Department Arrives," "How to Call the Fire Department," and "Stupid Carelessness, the Fire Clown," received awards in the non-theatrical class of general subjects. The fourth, "How to Fight Fire in the Kitchen," received its award in the non-theatrical home instructional division.

All four films are five minutes long and were intended primarily for television broadcasting, but are available for showing in schools, clubs and industry.

Prints of these and other fire prevention films may be booked free of charge by writing to the National Board of Underwriters film library, 13 East 37th Street, New York City 17.
