Livable Area Means Just What The Man Says...

Borough Attorney John Warhol ruled that "liveable area" in a house means a finished room and not an unfinished area. The question was put to him by the Planning Board after receipt of a petition from residents of Cherokee Avenue which objected to building permits being issued to a builder to construct houses on 60 foot lots in that vicinity.

Building Inspector Dave Colburn Jr. has issued the building permits on the basis that the minimum floor space planned for the homes, counting floor space for an expansion attic, comply with the ordinance regulations for a minimum floor space of "liveable area" of 1200 feet.

Attorney Warhol said that he had been in contact with the builders and had obtained an agreement from them that one room of the attic would be finished off, which would make the houses comply with minimum floor space requirements.

After the attorney's ruling the Council directed a letter to the building inspector informing him of the decision in order that future building permits would be issued on the basis of fully finished rooms.

Attorney Warhol said that the Borough ordinance did not define "liveable area" and the courts were not specific in defining the term. He said, however, that any other decision on his part would leave the term open to loose interpretations. He said if "liveable area" did not mean a finished room, then it is conceivable that any structure, even a frame building with studs showing, might be called "liveable area." This sort of decision, although correct as to law, would lead to a legal absurdity, he said.

FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON AND BERGEN JUNIOR COLLEGE MERGE

Fairleigh Dickinson College of Rutherford, New Jersey, and Bergen Junior College of Teaneck, will merge under the name of Fairleigh Dickinson College, with Dr. Peter Sammartino as president. Dr. Walter Head, president of Bergen Junior College, will become provost of the Teaneck campus.

The Boards of Trustees of the two institutions have approved the plan after numerous conferences. The merger will mark one of the largest and most important educational developments in the history of New Jersey.

Announcement of the merger was made by Edward T. T. Williams, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Rutherford institution. He said that negotiations were initiated by Bergen Junior College in August.

Mr. Williams said that a substantial building program for the Teaneck campus is being planned over a period of the next two years to include a new classroom building and modernization of laboratory facilities.

Merger of the two institutions will provide educational facilities for potentially 4,000 students. Fairleigh Dickinson presently the third largest college in the State, has a total enrollment of 2,851, approximately 1,206 of whom are day students. Bergen Junior College presently has an enrollment of 197 day students and 297 in its Evening Division.

MORE THAN TWENTY NEW HOMES FOR BOROUGH IN 1954

The Planning Board met in a quiet orderly session Monday night at the Memorial Building to hear proposed plans for construction of two residential developments in the borough.

One, atop Hillside Avenue near Forest Avenue is being planned for some 13-16 houses to be built after the first of the year. The builder of the proposed development was the only member of the audience attending the meeting and he discussed his plans with the board and agreed to certain revisions in his proposed layout.

The development of 8 new homes on E. Allendale Avenue, south of Boroline Road also came up for discussion. This development is in the beginning stages but promises, along with the Hillside Avenue project, to initiate a building program next spring.

The Board also prepared its budget for 1954 to be submitted to the Borough Council for incorporation in the general budget. The Planning will ask for $1600, which is $100 larger than the amount received this year. The increase requested may not actually have to come out of additional funds because there is indication that when this year's bills are all accounted for, there will be a surplus in the present account.

ART DEPARTMENT SEES CIMERAMIA

The Women's Club Art Department went to see Cinerama Monday afternoon and enjoyed a luncheon before the performance at Trader Horn. The party included Mrs. Henry Rademaker, Mrs. Martin Husling, Mrs. Leopold Polt, Mrs. George Albert, Mrs. Edgar Hortsman, Mrs. Frank Berdan, Mrs. Raymond Zane, Mrs. Arthur Fallon and chairman, Mrs. William Darken.

Some Democrats held an informal meeting Monday evening in a small beginning to what its sponsors hope will become the core of an active Democratic party in this largely Republican area.

The meeting was called by acting chairman Fred Pfister, 475 Franklin Turnpike, following the Democratic victory of Robert Meyner for Governor.

AMBULANCE OUT 3 HOURS ON SADDLE RIVER OXYGEN CALL

Two emergency calls kept the Allendale Ambulance, Officer Frank Parenti and Peter Cauwenberghs busy for over three hours Tuesday evening. At 6 p.m. a request came for a tank of oxygen from the Saddle River Police to assist in the case of Barney Kamp of Woodcliff Lake Road in Saddle River who was in critical.

Officer Parenti and Mr. Cauwenberghs raced with the tank of oxygen in the ambulance to Saddle River and administered oxygen to Mr. Kamp until 9 p.m.

At that time, a call from the Wyckoff Bowling Alleys, reporting that Russell Stewart of Allendale had strained his back and needed ambulance transportation home. The ambulance proceeded from Saddle River to Wyckoff and brought the patient to his home at 4 Hillside Avenue.

EDUCATION DEPT. MEETS AT HAMILTON'S

The Education Department of the Allendale Woman's Club will meet Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. B. P. Hamilton on Elmwood Ave., instead of in Ho-Ho-Kus, as previously announced.

The program will be a continuation of the round table discussion on the United Nations which members of the department visited recently.

Mr. Ella Benner

Services for Miss Ella Benner, 91, 19 N. Broad Street in Ridgewood, aunt of Mrs. Claude H. Voorhis, 49 Woodland Avenue, were held this week at Van Emburgh Funeral Home in Ridgewood. The Rev. Harry Goodrich of Archer Memorial Church officiated. Interment was in the George Washington Memorial Park in Paramus.

Miss Benner, a sister of the late John R. Benner of Glen Rock, died at Bergen Pines Hospital in Paramus last Saturday. She taught school in Ridgewood for a number of years and later was connected with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

She lived in Ridgewood and Glen Rock for 32 years. She is survived by her niece.

Mrs. Leon Lehrman, formerly Frieda Leff, visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ely Leff, last week. This marked the first visit home for Mrs. Lehrman since her recent marriage. She and her husband have returned from a wedding trip to Florida.

Mr. Pfister said that now is the time for the Democratic party to become active once more on the local level. The party has been given a shot in the arm by Meyner's victory, and we must follow it up with good organization, he said.

Democratic County Chairman Ben Green and Lou Tonti were guests at the meeting and promised assistance from the county organization to all efforts made in Allendale to rebuild the party.

Mr. Tonti remarked that the biggest job for Democrats in Bergen County is to build a two party system in order that there be freedom for individuals to express themselves politically. He said "in the past it was not considered proper in Bergen County to be a Democrat."

Mr. Tonti said he thought the Democratic victory was a good thing for both parties — for the Democrats it was an obvious boost and for the Republicans it will mean that the GOP inevitably will be forced to throw out the old guard and bring in young, progressive and honorable candidates. This means, Mr. Tonti said, the people of New Jersey are the real winners.

Mr. Green told the group to go about establishing a Democratic Club.

His suggestion was acted upon. At the next meeting, January 6th, plans for organization, election of officers, acceptance of by laws and program will be acted upon.

Mrs. Pfister served refreshments at the close of the business meeting.

CIO ASKS GOVERNOR TO SPEED CHECKS TO UNEMPLOYED

In a letter to Governor Driscoll outlining a program for immediate action to "insure a better Christmas to the thousands of New Jersey families whose Thanksgiving observance left much to be desired", Carl Holderman, state president of the CIO said these families "were lucky if they've able to buy hamburger, or pay rent, or meet any of the other non-deferrable essentials of life."

The state CIO claims that thousands of unemployed workers and their families won't have a Merry Christmas unless the state takes steps to speed up the payment of unemployment checks.

Bergen County Bankers' President Lauds Hard Money Policy As Safest for Nation

The ideal national money policy, according to Frederic S. Bayles, President of the Bergen County Bankers Association, is one based on sound money rather than "easy money" or "hard money."

that here is confusion and misunderstanding in relation to some of the terms being used in current discussions of monetary policy, and we believe that an understanding of the terms is essential if public opinion is to arrive at conclusions that will be helpful to the national authorities.

Mr. Bayles, who is also Vice-President of the Garden State National Bank, Teaneck, New Jersey, pointed out that the stated purpose of recent changes in government policy has been to restore and maintain sound money. This has been interpreted by some as a move toward hard money.

"This is not the case," he pointed out. "The terms 'hard money' and 'easy money' refer to situations in which money is either plentiful or scarce. But if money is excessively plentiful it becomes worth less. Easy money means inflation, and at the end of the scale can mean the destruction of property values. Hard money on the other hand is too scarce, hard to earn. Under such a situation people hold on to every cent, buying stops, production is stalled, there are few jobs, and we have hard times."

"Sound money has been defined as 'honest money,' or money that maintains its purchasing power. Sound money aims to maintain stable prices at a high level of business activity. It means that your dollars will count more for you, that your credit will be protected and that savings accounts, bonds, and insurance pensions will give you the security which you have a right to expect."

"The present trend toward sound money affects every one of us, and should be welcomed as a long-range safeguard of every American family."

"A sound money policy requires that, except in extremes, government should not spend more than it takes in. It also requires that banks lend wisely for useful purposes. On a family level all can contribute by regular saving and prudent spending. Only by these policies can the future value of the American dollar be made secure."

"National attention is focused on the monetary policies of our Federal government," Mr. Bayles said in a prepared statement issued last week. "People everywhere have become aware that government policies relating to money and banking have a direct effect on the earnings, savings, living standards, and financial security of the individual and the family."

A Letter To The Editor

The following is a letter we received from a new comer to Allendale. We believe it is a true afterthought of Thanksgiving Day in America as a person from another country sees it. The letter was not changed or edited, in order to present a clear picture of how the author feels about our great country.

The Editor

Not long ago I came to this town and on one occasion I had the pleasure of meeting you.

As a new comer I don't know too many people in this town, so I like to be friendly with everybody and express my feelings, that I am just too glad and too happy to be one more loyal citizen of this great country, a man could be anything he wants to be, having the opportunity of higher education, intelligence, smartness, riches or anything he wishes to be or have and that is why everyone has to be very thankful to be living in this wonderful country of ours.

There are millions of people in this country who don't appreciate the opportunity and blessings they have, because they don't know what they would be like if they happen to be born in some other country of this world like Europe, Asia or Africa. If this kind of people would only think that there would not be a Thanksgiving Day and there would not be any turkey, there would not be as matter of fact any kind of meat and in many instances they would be too glad to have enough bread for their family.

I have visited the biggest part of this world and I had the opportunity to see how they live how they work and what they get for the work they are doing. I wish I could tell to anyone who wants to listen, the difference in the way of work, housing, food, clothing and general way of living between this country or any other I have visited.

COUNCILMAN WARNS AGAINST NIGHT PARKING
The annual warning to motorists not to leave their cars parked on the streets, was made by Councilman Frank McCord last week when he spoke of the difficulties which are bound to come when the first snow falls.

Councilman McCord said that inevitably the first snow would come in the middle of the night and that it was not only difficult for the snow plow to maneuver around parked cars, it was also probable that parked cars might get boxed in by piles of snow pushed to the roadsides.

Commissioners Named To Assess Project Cost

Three assessment commissioners to apportion costs on the West Crescent improvement project were appointed by the Mayor and Council last week. The three commissioners—Werner J. Baarek, former building inspector and member of the Board of Assessors, Leonard J. Baum and Thomas Zane, will make a thorough study of the costs of the project and determine how much each property owner has benefited from the project.

The commissioners will submit their report to the Council and make recommendations as to how the total cost is to be shared by the town and property owners along W. Crescent Avenue. Each property owner will be informed of his share in the project.

Following that, a public hearing will be held, to which all property owners will be invited. The Council will then decide the final outcome of the way expenses will be shared.

Mayor John Tucker said he hoped the matter might be settled by the first of the year, but admitted that the commissioners would have a lot of work to do before the public hearing which might delay proceedings.

The total cost for the project which included widening the avenue, installing storm drains and curbs, completed by the Pat Job Construction Co., was $25,933.46 a few dollars short of the $26,000 appropriated for the job. At the time the project was approved, there was some talk that the

LICHEN SPECIALIST TALKS TO FYKE NATURE ASS'N

Stories of the botanists who worked for years classifying and cataloging mosses and lichens, and the difficulties encountered by students in identifying these plants, few of which have any but local scientific names, were related by Guy Nearing when he spoke to the Fyke Nature Association last Friday evening in Ramsey. Mr. Nearing, who is a lichen specialist, showed a number of his own colored slides to illustrate some of the more common mosses and lichens such as sphagnum, haircap, reindeer, and broom mosses, the powderhorn, thorn, and goblet lichens. Mr. Nearing mentioned that the Iceland moss, found in the arctic regions, can be used by humans as food.

The gift, 40 live white leghorns, will soon form the basis for a chicken dinner for the hospital patients.

In addition to the gift of Mr. Keil, the hospital has approximately 29,000 canned goods and staple items as the result of the annual Donation Day drive undertaken by the Woman's Auxiliary of Hackensack Hospital, November 19. The Auxiliary's Donation Day committee is still making a tally of the items and evaluating their net worth, so that this contribution from the general public to the hospital's leader can be reported.
